

Petitions Filed, 52,000 Sign to Oust Sales Tax

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Petitions to refer the 3 per cent sales tax to a popular vote at the 1958 general election were filed with Secy. of State C. G. Hall today.

Hope Publisher Alex H. Washburn, who has led the movement for referendum, said the petitions contain approximately 52,000 signatures from 80 counties.

Washburn delivered the petitions to the secretary of state's office in several big boxes.

The filing took place more than a full day before tomorrow midnight's deadline for presentation of such petitions.

Washburn would have had to submit only 23,941 valid signatures representing six per cent of the total vote for governor in 1956 to get the measure on the general election ballot.

He recently announced that he had abandoned an alternative plan to force a special election by submission of signatures representing 15 per cent of the vote — a total of 39,851.

The 1957 Legislature, at the behest of Gov. Orval Faubus, increased the sales tax from 2 to 3 per cent.

Faubus estimated that the increase would bring in around 18 million dollars a year which he said was needed for public schools, colleges, welfare and other state agencies and services.

So far, the actual increase for the few months the higher tax has been collected does not indicate an annual total of the size estimated by the governor.

Washburn opposed the increase when it was being considered in the Legislature and said then it was adopted he would lead a movement for a popular vote.

Hall's staff will check the number of signatures and certify the total.

If a majority vote against the 3 per cent tax next year, the rate will revert to 2 per cent.

If a majority vote for the 3 per cent levy, the rate will continue at that figure.

Other Unions Under Study Says McClellan

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) said today hearings are contemplated on carpenters, operating engineers and sanitation workers unions which may be as interesting as the Teamsters hearings "especially when we get into the New York area."

McClellan, chairman of the Senate Investigations Committee, was in Arkansas to participate in ground breaking at two big Arkansas flood control projects. He was to appear today at ceremonies at Greers Ferry Dam on the Little Red River near Heber Springs and tomorrow at Hardacre Dam on the Arkansas River.

The Arkansas senator said hearings on activities of the bakers' unions are about half finished and he added preliminary investigations are turning up "practically all other unions which parallel those of the Teamsters."

The special committee on labor-management practices will probably resume June 20, he said.

McClellan said he would call a meeting of the Senate Government Operations Committee Thursday to consider the lobbying bill he has introduced.

"I don't think hearings by that committee will be necessary; after all, there were hearings on the Hoff-Cass incident which caused the bill to be written," he said.

McClellan was chairman of the special committee which studied the reported offer of money to Sen. Case (R-S) for support of the controversial natural gas bill.

The measure, said McClellan, "defines lobbying directly and indirectly and gives authority for enforcement to the general accounting office, which is an arm of Congress, it does not outlaw lobbying which is a fundamental right of the American people."

McClellan said he has "left the way open for someone else" to write a bill regulating campaign expenditures and contributions.

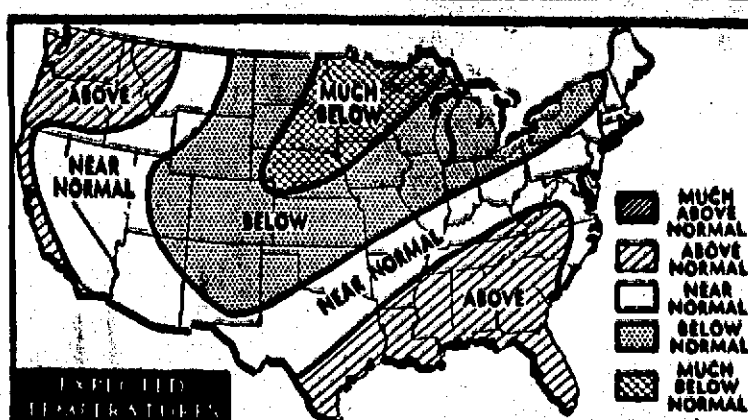

NEW YORK (AP) — Many a kid, after losing interest in toys, has gone on to win success at investment banking.

Warren Gochenour Jr., is a man who reversed the field. He dropped investment banking 10 years ago to take up toys.

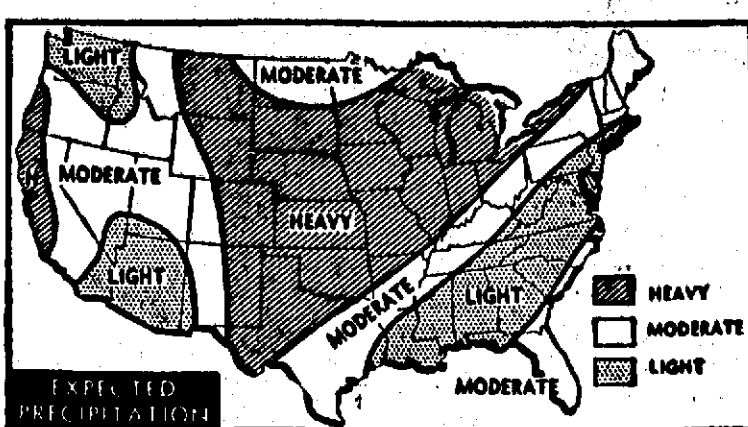

Now after a number of years in which the thought held wind up in the workshop, he sells 80,000 toys a day. He owes much of his success to his daughter, Gail, now 18.

Back in 1947 Gochenour, a well-to-do young St. Paul investment banker, gave Gail two playthings — a toy bank and an expensive electric train.

"The best things in life aren't free, but some of them are available on easy terms."

Temperatures are expected to average below seasonal normals over the northern half of the nation lying between the Rockies and the Appalachians until July. Above normal temperatures are predicted for the West Coast, Gulf Coast and Southeast. Near normal temperatures are predicted in areas not mentioned.

From now until July, rainfall is expected to exceed normal over central portions of the nation from the Continental Divide eastward to a line extending from the eastern Great Lakes through central Texas. Subnormal rainfall is expected over much of the area east of the Appalachians, the east Gulf states and Pacific Northwest. In other areas normal rains are indicated.

U.S. Army Re-enters Ark-La Rate Hike Case

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The secretary of the Army today re-entered the Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. rate case which has been involved in Public Service Commission hearings and litigation for some two years.

The Army, in two applications filed with the PSC, asked for a rehearing of the 4,300,000 rate boost, originally granted Ark-La in 1955 and failing that asked for an appeal to Pulaski Circuit Court.

PSC Chairman Lewis Robinson declined comment on the Army's action, on behalf of the Pine Bluff Arsenal, but said the commission would "pass on it immediately, probably this week."

Ark-La's controversial rate case seemed settled May 27 when the PSC reaffirmed the boost which had been overruled by the Arkansas Supreme Court.

In its May order, the PSC said of the high court which had disapproved the formula which the commission used to arrive at Ark-La's rates.

The Supreme Court centered most of its criticism on the PSC's unprecedented use of the "fair field price" method under which a utility would be allowed to charge as much for gas it produces as for gas it purchases.

Although the 1957 Legislature authorized the fair field price method the PSC had to base its final decision on laws in effect when the 1953 order was issued.

The Army today claimed that it should have received a notice of public hearing on the Supreme Court's mandate (no hearing was held by the PSC), and that the PSC had erred in concluding it had complied with the court's mandate.

The Army was among protesters before the Supreme Court but lost its appeal when the court ruled the Army had been late in joining the group.

Man Reverts to Toys to Become Successful

Ike's Brother Has a Kidney Ailment

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, in Johns Hopkins Hospital with a kidney ailment, today missed the first commencement held since he became president of Johns Hopkins University last October.

Eisenhower, 57-year-old, young brother of President Eisenhower, was admitted to the hospital Sunday after an illness which began Saturday was diagnosed as a kidney infection. His condition is listed as satisfactory but doctors cannot say how long he will remain for treatment.

Dixie Civil Rights Foes Undecided

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House approached the brass-tacks amendment stage of its civil rights controversy today, with Southern opponents undecided on a course of action.

Some wanted to try to stall off a showdown vote as long as possible while others favored an attempt to force a quick test.

Despite the uncertainty, it appeared likely that the bill would clear the House late this week. It would then go to the Senate, where Southerners have succeeded in blocking action in past years and are confident they can do again.

General debate on the bill ended yesterday, and it was opened to amendments today.

The measure, backed by the administration, is designed generally to protect voting and other civil rights. It includes a provision which would permit the attorney general to seek a federal court injunction in any case where he thinks such rights are being or are about to be violated.

The Southerners have concentrated on including an amendment to guarantee jury trials in their home courts for persons cited for contempt for violating such federal injunctions.

The Senate Judiciary Committee already has voted to include such a provision in its version of the bill.

"She played with them a few days, then would have nothing to do with them," he recalled. "That got me to thinking that maybe a lot of parents were like me wasting money buying child toys in which they quickly lost interest."

"Why couldn't something be done to see that kids got reasonably priced toys suited to their age level and play needs?"

After a survey of the field, Gochenour gave up investment banking and launched his world toy house firm. He had three basic goals: to pre-test toys, plainly mark on them the age levels for which they were intended.

Train Hits Truck in Colorado, 12 Workers Killed

VROMAN, Colo. (UP) — A Santa Fe freight train smashed into a truck carrying farm workers to the sugar beet fields of southeastern Colorado today killing at least 12 and injuring five.

Authorities said most of the bodies were so badly mangled, it would likely be hours before all were identified. But all were from the Rock Creek, Colo., area six miles east of here.

It was also difficult to tell the exact number killed. The sheriff's office had counted 12 but the state employment office at Rocky Ford said it knew of 18 persons on the truck and that only five had been hospitalized leaving 13 apparently dead.

The dead included men, women and children. Among them was Sylvester Liano of Rocky Ford, driver of the truck.

Bodies were scattered along 400 feet of the railroad right-of-way which runs just east of this small community.

Authorities said the truck was turning off U. S. Highway 50 into a farm when the accident occurred about 6 a. m. CST.

They believed Liano was blinded by the early morning sun and drove onto the crossing as the 50-car freight, on route from Pueblo, to La Junta, Colo., bore down.

Engineer of the train was W. S. Inskeeper who was described as being "too upset" to describe details of what occurred. Other crewmen included brakeman Troy Thomas, conductor G. C. Prince and rear brakeman D. A. Johnson. None was hurt but they were unable to give any picture of what happened.

The truck was twisted into a mass of jagged steel and its victims horrible shreds of flesh.

Only a few weeks ago Gov. Steve McNichols and other state officials had announced Colorado was "cracking down" on transportation of migratory workers many of whom come from other states and Mexican work in beet fields during the summer.

The injured were taken to hospitals in Rocky Ford and La Junta. Three were children. All were badly hurt. Four of the survivors were identified as Erma Liano, Charles Lathrum, Rose Lucero and Mary Valdez.

Ralph Peacock of a Junta, Colo., funeral home returned from the scene with several of the bodies and said the site was "worse than a plane crash." All but one or two of the bodies were mangled beyond recognition, he said.

Realtor Sees a Return to the Cities

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A man's return from suburbia to the heart of the city was predicted last night by William Zeckendorf, president of Webb Knapp, Inc., New York reputedly the world's largest real estate firm.

Addressing some 1,500 persons during the National Citizens Planning Conference, Zeckendorf said many cities would eradicate their slums and replace them with tall apartment buildings surrounded by parks.

Such a trend "will induce many people to return from the suburbs," Zeckendorf said. "It will begin the revival of the downtown retail store."

The selling points of the new apartment would be "nearness to shops and cultural attractions."

The 51-year-old executive said, "Theme of the 3-day conference which began here yesterday is 'Main Street 1969.' An estimate of 700 civic leaders and businessmen from throughout the nation are attending."

President Eisenhower sent a congratulatory telegram to the conference yesterday.

"You are making a great contribution to the period in which a truly inter-regional highway system becomes a reality," the telegram stated.

Speakers yesterday stressed the need to separate man from the automobile in future downtown areas.

Victor Gruen, Los Angeles architect and designer of the Fort Worth plan for downtown development, said a "horde of mechanical monsters" have made Main Street "an absurdity with no sound basis for existence."

Convict Will Get a New Hearing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Lawyers for both sides agreed today that because of a U. S. Supreme Court ruling, death row author Caryl Chessman will get a new hearing concerning the record of his original trial.

Chessman, who has been in San Quentin Prison nine years, said the ruling yesterday opens the way for "what I wanted in the first place new trial."

He was convicted at Los Angeles May 22, 1948, on 17 counts including robbery, kidnapping with bodily harm, ex-parte, and attempted rape and sentenced to death under California's "Little Lindbergh Law." That law provides a death penalty for kidnapping with bodily harm.

The U. S. Supreme Court in a 5-3 decision, ruled he had been denied due process of law because neither he nor his counsel was present when the official transcript of the trial was prepared and because the transcript had been "seriously questioned."

Negro Drowns in Lewisville Lake

LEWISVILLE (AP) — A 32-year-old Negro drowned last night when his boat sank while crossing to his island home on Spirit Lake about 10 miles northwest of here.

A spokesman for the sheriff's office said Perry Ward realized his boat was sinking and called to his wife on the bank to come out in another boat to help Ward reach him.

The body was recovered by Lafayette County officers and the emergency rescue unit from Magnolia about four hours after the accident.

Wheat Program Still Not Known

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers won't know what kind of soil bank program the will have for wheat if any when they vote June 20 on marketing quotas on the 1958 crop of this breadgrain.

Agriculture Department officials had hoped that Congress would take final action on soil bank funds so that details could be announced before the voting.

The House has voted to kill the soil bank reserve after this year, but the Senate Appropriations Committee has voted to keep it another year. Officials said not enough time is left before the referendum to work out the wheat details even should Congress act favorably in the meantime.

Body Recovered From River

NEW PORT, Ia. — The body of John Thompson, 40, of Blytheville, was recovered from the swollen Cache River near here yesterday, where a trailer truck had plunged off a bridge.

The driver, Floyd Young, 49, of Blytheville, suffered minor injuries. Witnesses said Young tried unsuccessfully to pull Thompson out of the current after the accident.

State Police said the truck struck a hole on the bridge, causing the driver to lose control.

British Queen, Prince to Visit U. S. in October

WASHINGTON, (INS) — The White House announced today that Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip of Britain will pay a six-day visit to the United States in October at the invitation of President Eisenhower.

The royal couple plan to arrive in the U. S. from Canada on Oct. 16. They will fly directly to Jamestown, Va., to participate in the 350th anniversary of the first landings by English colonists on American soil.

Returning to Washington the same day, they will begin a three-day formal state visit in the nation's capital.

The queen and the Prince hope to visit New York City for one day before flying back to England Oct. 21.

It will be Elizabeth's first visit to the U. S. since her coronation. She and her husband were last in the U. S. in 1951 when she was still a princess and her husband the Duke of Edinburgh.

The invitation has been in the works for many months and informal acceptance by the queen had been widely anticipated.

Prince Philip had confirmed earlier today that he and the Queen would visit Canada, where Elizabeth will formally open the new session of the Canadian parliament.

Their schedule in this country calls for a day of "rest" in Washington after the busy three-day formal visit. There are no plans for the royal couple to tour any other part of the country except for the proposed one-day stopover in New York City.

The last visit of a reigning British monarch to the United States was by the late King George VI in 1939. He and the Queen, now Queen Mother Elizabeth, were entertained in regal style by President and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, both in Washington and at Hyde Park, N. Y.

Mr. Eisenhower, who recently adopted a new policy of greeting all visiting chiefs of state at the airport, will welcome the Queen in the same manner.

Five Injured in Accident Here Monday

Five persons were painfully injured late yesterday when an auto driven by Melvin Johnson of Hope apparently went out of control and hit a telephone pole on Third Street.

Investigating city officers said no other auto was involved, Mr. Johnson, Mrs. Johnson, a Mrs. Crane and Mrs. Emma Mayton all received cuts and bruises and facial and body lacerations. Mrs. Lucy Mosser of Fulton suffered cuts and bruises and a broken arm.

Officers said the vehicle was damaged considerably.

A second accident at Third and Shover resulted in minor fender damage to a parked auto owned by Officer Raymond Pedron who was off duty at the time. Other investigating officers said the car pulling a large house trailer driven by E. C. Griffin of Baytown, Texas backed into Mr. Pedron's parked car in a service station.

washed out planted cotton fields in Arkansas and neighboring states. A proposal advanced last week to permit farmers to move their allotments to higher lands in the same or a nearby county ran into objections from the Agriculture Department, Mills and Gathings, who had to act quickly, did not press the matter.

Under their new proposal local committees would be given authority to allow such farmers to place their allotments under the soil bank. This authority would extend until next July 15. Soil bank denials for cotton was last March 1.

The Arkansas congressmen asked Chairman Conley (D-N.C.) of the House Agriculture Committee to ascertain the position of the Agriculture Department on their new bill and obtain an immediate hearing.

They said "some small" relief would be needed if the farmers were permitted to place their acreage allotments in the soil bank.

At Little Rock, Agricultural Statistician Miles McPeck said there is a definite "gamble" involved in replanting cotton at this time. He said many acres apparently will be planted in the next few days.

The gamble would be less in south Arkansas counties, McPeck said.

Meany Warns of Employer Welfare Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—ALL-CIO President George Meany said today the same "opportunity for abuse exists in welfare-pension plans run by employers as in union-operated plans. He contended both kinds should be safeguarded by law.

He added, referring to "corruption and malfeasance" in company-run employee funds, "We know within our experience, that they have occurred."

Meany said in a 6,000-word statement prepared for a Senate subcommittee that the AFL-CIO has adopted a strict self-policing code for its unions. But "it has not been matched by employers, the insurance industry or state regulatory bodies."

The AFL-CIO chief criticized the welfare or pension plans operated by four firms, including those of the General Electric Co., and said the firm's main practices which the National Association of Manufacturers has labeled as "corruption and malfeasance" when they occur in union-operated funds.

The Senate subcommittee is studying proposals to require registration of all welfare-pension plans with the government together with periodic details financial accounts. Court fines and jail terms would be imposed for fraud or filing false statements.

Meany said the AFL-CIO favors the legislation, but only if it applies to all such plans. He cited estimates that 92 per cent of workers under health-welfare plans and 86 per cent under pension plans are under systems operated solely by employers.

"We are prepared," Meany said, to accept and act upon our responsibility with respect to errors and omissions on the part of trade union representatives.

"We cannot, however, guarantee the integrity of health, welfare, and pension plans against

Rights Bill Won't Pass, Says Fulbright

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.), praising his state's great progress in improved race relations, today predicted pending civil rights legislation will not be enacted.

"I think such matters as civil rights are not solved nor improved by 'direct legislation,'" he said.

"We cannot force good manners by legislation. The solution is education. The rights of minorities should be protected by the individual states."

He added, "Arkansas has made great progress in improved relations between the races."

Fulbright said he believes an amendment to the civil rights bill to provide for jury trials will stand and that the measure will come up for Senate debate late in the session, which probably will end in mid-July. The senator was in Arkansas to take part in breaking at the proposed Greers Ferry and Dardanelle dams.

which they were most suitable, and to distribute them through mass outlets, such as chain drug and grocery stores.

"I met a lot of opposition," he said. "I ran through all my own money, and all the money I could borrow. I even borrowed on my home, my furniture and my life insurance."

"There were many mornings when I went to work not knowing whether I'd still be in business at nightfall. But everytime I'd feel like quitting, I'd get enough encouragement from teacher and parent groups to keep trying a little longer."

The tide turned a couple of years ago with the development of low-priced durable plastics.

"We pick them" by having them tested by children in kid juries in 34 nursery schools, play centers and kindergartens. The teachers grade the toys on their durability, play value, safety and educational value.

"If the teachers reject a toy, we don't handle it." We think teachers are better judges than a child psychologist in picking toys, because they know their children better."

His toys range in prices from a dime to $1.50, average 40 cents. The most popular items are ball-rolling squeeze toys, stickhorses, magic sets, plastic autos and airplanes, and household kits for little future mothers.

One thing we learned," said Gochenour, "is that a child doesn't really enjoy a mechanical toy until he breaks it and can move it around himself. He likes to be the motivating force."

"The play value must come first the educational value second. There are too many so-called educational toys put out that are complete flops."

Gochenour who now distributes his toys through 30,000 retail outlets, will do a multi-million dollar business this year.

His advice to anyone who wants to go into the toy field:

"It's nothing to toy with. Pleasing children takes a lot of hard work and hard thinking. They know what they want, and you'll lose your shirt if you can't find out what it is."

He Asks Wife to Take Girl Friend's Baby!

Dear Dorothy Dix: Three months ago I left my husband because of a girl he dated previous to our marriage. In a few weeks we made up. However, yesterday the girl called my husband, saying she was pregnant. He promised to pay all her expenses and said we would take the baby. I don't like the idea, particularly as I'm six months pregnant myself. MOLLY-O
Dear Molly-O: I wouldn't advise you to go along with your husband's bighearted promises. Let him pay her expenses, but don't take the baby. Aside from the practical objections, it would not work out emotionally. The child would be a constant reminder of your husband's infidelity and the mother might make frequent reappearances on one pretext or another.
Let the girl decide the disposition of her own child; you keep out of it. Remind your husband that his first duty is to you.
An interview with a counselor from Family Service Organization might clarify matters.
Dear Dorothy Dix: Is there any reason why single girls shouldn't be friendly with married ones? I'm single and 21. Most of my friends are married and mother says I shouldn't run around with them.

DODIE

Dear Dorothy Dix: After all a mother can be wrong! It would be a cruel world if a girl had to give up all her friends when they married.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I've been a widow for several years. I'm 42, but told I look younger. Recently I met a man who is the sole support of his mother. We've been dating frequently, but he is terrified that his mother will find out about me.
LAURIE

Dear Laurie: If a man is afraid to introduce you to his mother as a friend, consider the uproar if he presented you as a prospective wife! At that, the matron might take it calmly. Persuade your friend to take the chance. Win or lose all.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My husband is wonderful, a charming mate and devoted father. I should be completely happy, but for some reason I've been thinking lately about my high-school sweetheart. I have a tremendous longing to see him. Would this be harmful?

Dear Lois: Suppose your husband expressed a deep desire to see the high-school crush. Could you accept the fact complacently? Would you agree that seeing her would be a harmless incident? Carry on from here!

Army Is Still Seeking to Close Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Possible savings of a million dollars yearly were dangled before the Senate yesterday by Army leaders who said the savings would result if Army-Navy Hospital at Hot Springs, Ark., and another hospital were closed.

Maj. Gen. Silas B. Hays, Army surgeon-general, told a Senate Appropriations subcommittee that keeping the Hot Springs hospital and Murphy General Hospital at Waltham, Mass., open was costing more than 3 1/2 million dollars annually.

Hays said the Hot Springs institution has an average of 70 patients, a capacity of up to 314, a staff of 200 and costs $1,731,000 yearly to operate.

"There is no requirement" for either hospital, Hays said. First-year savings if the Army could close both hospitals would be $400,000 and "approximately one million dollars" each year thereafter, the surgeon general said.

The same Senate group was told by Secretary of Defense Wilson recently that Wilson's attempt to close the two hospitals had been blocked by "politics."

The first Indianapolis Motor Speedway race was held in 1909 over a dirt track. Because of numerous accidents, it was paved with brick for the next race.

SUBSTITUTE DOCTOR

© 1937 by Elizabeth Seifert.

THE STORY: Dr. Gardé Shelton has met Valley Stanfield and her sister Nan, his next-door neighbors in Bayard, Mo. Gardé has come to the small town to take Dr. Kurt Lillard's place on the clinic staff. Dr. Lillard was convicted of murder and was engaged to Nan. But Valley too seems to have been involved in the slaying.

CHAPTER VIII

"That same evening it appeared that he would be busy. For he had scarcely gone inside again — he had not yet sat down — when the phone rang sharply. "Goodness," he exclaimed. "I didn't even know we had one."

His mother was hurrying down the hall, and he followed at a more leisurely pace. She picked up the phone and spoke into it breathlessly. "Hello"

He must tell her how to answer for him, how to take messages, and tell her not to give medical advice, herself.

"Oh, yes," she was saying,

"he's here. Just a minute . . ."

Her face pink, she turned to Gardé. "It's a call already," she said in a loud whisper.

He took the phone. "Dr. Shelton here," he said in a firm, clear voice.

"Sir, this is the operator at the clinic. A child has been hurt down at the club. Since you live near, would you want to go there?"

"Why, yes. I'll go right away."

His patient proved to be a little girl, with a long, ugly cut along her throat under her chin. She had lost a lot of blood and now lay limp and white against her mother's denim jacket.

She was an enchanting little thing, with a mass of bright curly hair, brown-satin limbs, long lashes . . .

"Tell me what happened," said Gardé, his voice rasping. He glanced at the white-coated servant. "Could I have a basin of water Towels Soap?"

"Yes, sir!" said the attendant called Sparks and took off at what was a brisk pace for him.

Gardé knelt to get a closer look at the cut, then, putting his fingers upon the child's throat, he asked the mother if she thought they could lift Linda enough to put her flat upon the table.

Not waiting for a reply, this move was effected. "Stand out of my light," said the new doctor, his whole attention upon the little girl; the fingers of his right hand were upon her pulse. "What's her name?"

"Linda. She cut herself on her bottle. She ran down the beach with it — stumbled — and the bottle broke . . ."

It had barely missed the jugular, too, that edge of broken glass.

Now others standing about took up the story; they were all dressed in picnic clothes, jeans and denim; all were young people. They'd had this beach picnic. Linda had gone off for her bottle; she was getting ashamed of still drinking from one. But the way she came back! Bleeding, screaming, scared to death!

The doctor heard them, but his first attention still was upon the work at hand. Afterward these onlookers told how intent he was and swift.

"It looked as if he never moved thing so lethal as a glass bottle in her hands." Linda began to stir, and his big hand soothed her.

He knew that around him these people were exchanging glances; there was even a soft murmur of words.

"Dr. Shelton," asked Linda's mother; she was a very striking-looking woman, tall and slender, with high cheek bones and a big mouth. Huge eyes. "Are you married?"

He laughed. "No, I'm not."

"Well," said Linda's mother, "maybe you should be. Maybe then you'd understand a parent's problems better."

The next day, Gardé went to the clinic, ready to work on a regular schedule. That day was followed by another and another.

Gardé was reluctant to talk to Beth about his associates, not at all about his patients and very little about the other doctors and people connected with the clinic.

Beth filled this vacuum with talk of her own experiences.

She must, he thought, watch the Stanfields constantly. Judging from the detailed reports on them which she was able to furnish Gardé.

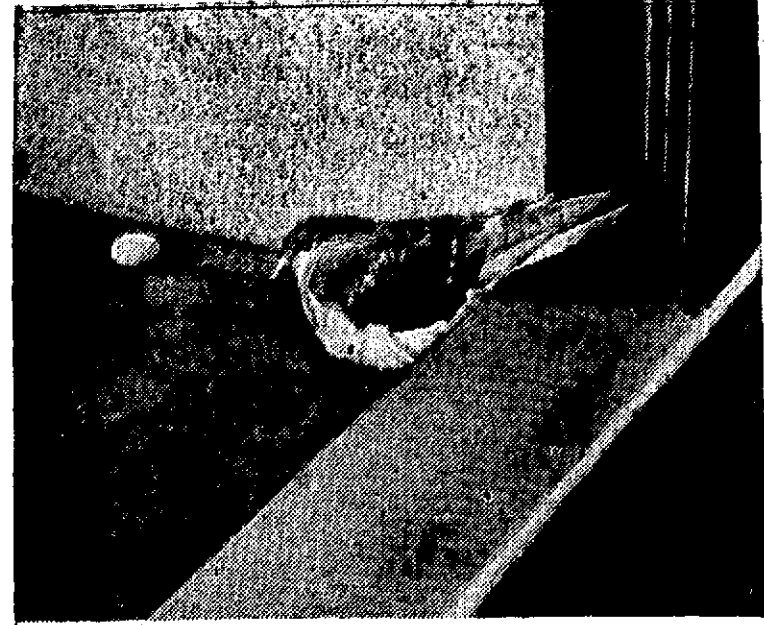

"Mother, don't intrude on them."

"I don't, Gardé. But I can't help seeing them."

Reduced Peach Crop in Arkansas

WASHINGTON (AP) — A greatly reduced peach crop and a bumper winter wheat harvest are in the cards for Arkansas.

The Agriculture Department said yesterday the peach crop would total about 1,105,000 bushels, less than half of the 1936 bumper crop of 2½ million bushels. The 10-year average is 1,760,000.

The winter wheat estimate was 2,852,000 bushels, not far below the record of 3,230,000 set in 1900, when a much greater acreage was involved.

A late freeze this spring was blamed for the decline in peach prospects.

Woman Drowns in Stock Pond

MAGNOLIA (UP) — A 38-year-old Negro man was drowned while swimming in a farm pond about four miles south of here yesterday.

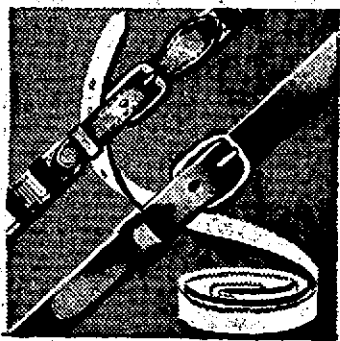

Deputy Sheriff Orland Furlow identified the man as O'Dwyer Cummings of near Kerlin. Magnolia fishermen recovered the body about two hours later.

Shortage in Cook County Clerk Records

CHICAGO (AP) — Auditors checking records in the Cook County treasurer's office yesterday announced a shortage of funds that may exceed a million dollars and involve the entire tax foreclosure structure.

State's Atty. Benjamin S. Adamowski said of the discovery, "It is our understanding that this case dates back into the entire tax foreclosure picture."

"In our opinion we have the makings of a scandal which far exceeds what was called to our attention two weeks ago," he added.

At that time, Treasurer Herbert C. Paschen reported that at least $444,000 was missing in a case "with overtones of similarity with the edge scandal."

Orville Hodge, ousted Illinois state auditor, is serving a state sentence of 12 to 15 years in prison on his plea of guilty to charges stemming from the theft of more than two million dollars of public funds.

Adamowski said the new shortage has nothing to do with the first one. The second shortage was discovered by auditors checking interest and penalties on real estate taxes.

"The pattern we are certain of now, covers the period from 1947 up to and including 1956," Adamowski said.

A preliminary investigation covered two periods. The first was in 1956 when Paschen, the present Democratic office holder, was treasurer.

Adamowski said the period investigated during Brenza's term showed $94,792 should have been collected as interest in foreclosures, but apparently only $41,171 was taken in.

The period under Paschen should have brought a total of $102,964 instead of the actual $83,058, the state's attorney said.

Two employees were suspended by Paschen in the wake of the first investigation. They are Ernest E. Peterson, 57 head bookkeeper and treasurer's office employee since 1939; and Milton Baer, 55, supervisor of the foreclosure department since 1932.

The family of Willie Williams wishes to express appreciation to our many friends for the services rendered and the expressions of love and sympathy in the form of food, flowers, etc.

Letter to the Editor:

We are curious to know if anyone besides us had a gieger counter turned on Sunday morning.

Our instrument registered considerable radioactivity in this area which diminished to 3 MR/HR around nightfall.

A certain amount of radionetivity is present in the air at all times which is considered natural or normal. This radioactivity will register from .01 to .03 MR/HR on a gieger counter.

On Sunday our instrument measured 10 milliroentgens per hour on the X100 scale which is the less sensitive scale. Milliroentgens is a term used to express the number of units of radiation intensity per hour. On the other two scales, the 32 and the 10, the needle went all the way to the right. When this happens the X-100 range must be used in order to obtain a correct

Carpenter's Chief Linked to Big Profits

By NOLAN WAKE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) said today he is sending to the Justice Department testimony linking Maurice A. Hutcheson, president of the 850,000-member Carpenters Union, with high land profits on an Indiana highway project.

Evidence presented before a Senate Roads subcommittee headed by Gore also involved two other top officers of the Carpenters Union and two former officials of the Indiana Highway Department.

The three union officials invoked the Fifth Amendment yesterday in refusing to tell about allegedly splitting some $80,000 profits on a quick turnover of right-of-way land near Gary, Ind., for an Indiana expressway, a federal state project. The two former highway officials had similarly refused to answer other questions earlier in the probe.

"The evidence," Gore told a reporter, "seems to support an evident conspiracy to defraud both federal and state governments."

He said he was transmitting transcripts of the hearing to the Justice Department, the federal district attorney in Indiana, the prosecutor of Lake County, and to Gov. Harold Handley.

Besides possible court prosecution, Hutcheson also may face ouster as an AFL-CIO vice president and Executive Council member.

In his subcommittee appearance yesterday, Hutcheson said he had never used Carpenters Union funds "for anything, except brotherhood business since I have been in office."

He has headed the Carpenters for about three years, since death of his father, William (Big Bill) Hutcheson.

President Has Recovered From Ailment

By MARVIN ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, "virtually recovered" from his stomach upset, unexpectedly spent about an hour and 45 minutes at his desk today.

He was far enough along the recovery road to make a wisecrack to newsmen about getting at "few steaks."

After his stint at the office.

Eisenhower returned to the White House living quarters for "lunch and a midday rest."

During the office stay the President signed an appropriation bill carrying $562,881,293 for the State and Justice departments and the federal judiciary for the fiscal year starting July 1.

He also sent to Congress a request for a supplemental appropriation for that new year, an increase of $30,000 to meet expenses of the Senate restaurant.

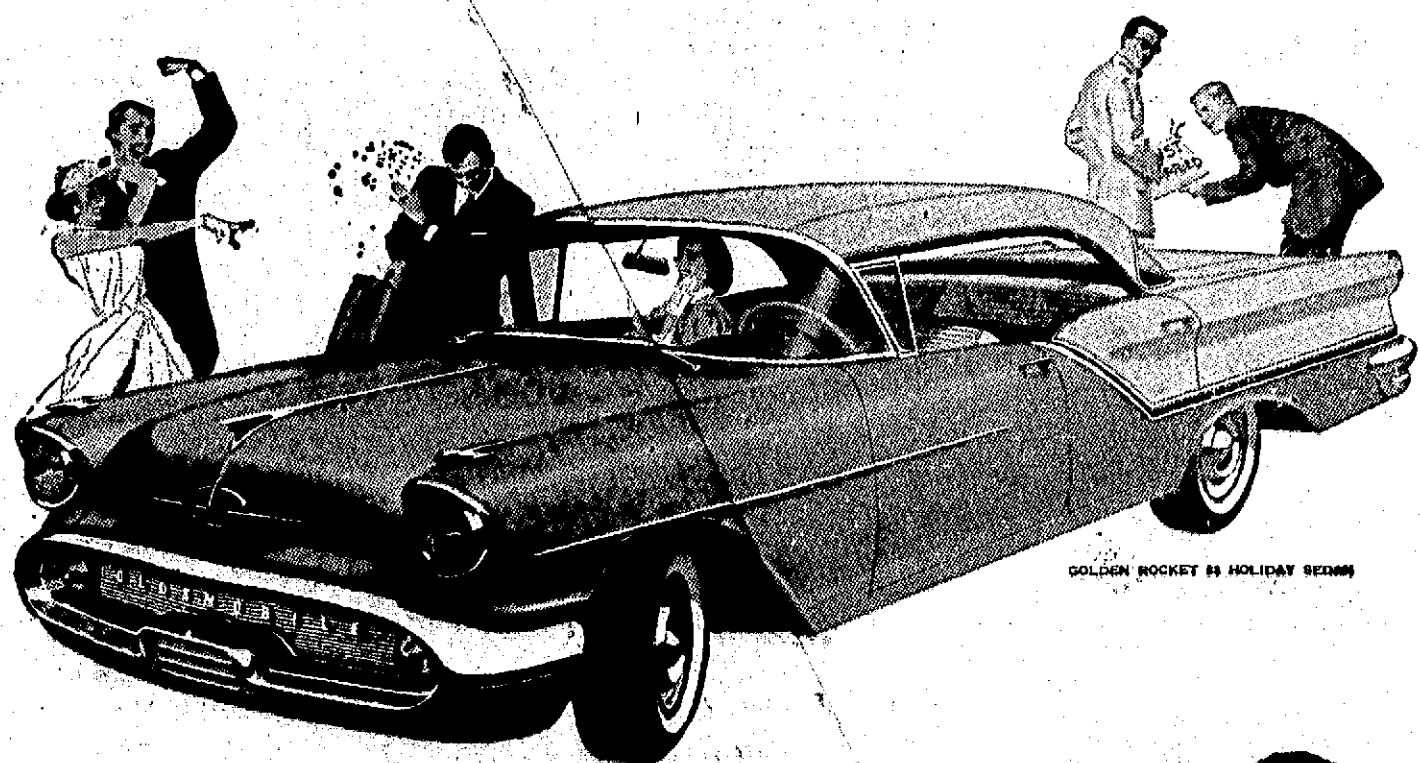

Eisenhower also dictated several letters to his private secretary and conferred with five White House aides at separate meetings.

Civil Workers Overseas Not Under Military

WASHINGTON (UP) The Supreme Court ruled today that American civilians with the armed forces overseas are not subject to military trial.

"Under our constitution courts of law alone are given power to try civilians for their offenses against the United States," the tribunal held in a far-reaching 8 to 2 opinion.

In other major decisions, the court:

Gave new hope to doomed convict-author Caryl Chessman by ordering, 5 to 3, new state court hearings to determine whether there were any inaccuracies in a trial court reporters record of his trial. Chessman is in the death house of San Quentin prison in California.

Ruled unanimously that a Teamsters Union official was within his rights in invoking the Fifth Amendment's protection against self-incrimination when asked by a grand jury to tell the whereabouts of books and records in his keeping. The court held that "compulsory production of corporate or associate records by their custodian is readily justifiable," but a witness need not tell where the records are kept.

Beck's Passport Is Suspended

WASHINGTON (AP) — That State Department has temporarily suspended Dave Beck's passport at the joint request of the Justice Department and the Senate Rackets Committee.

State Department officials said last night the request was made last Friday after a federal court in Tacoma, Wash., turned down the Teamsters Union president when he asked permission to attend a labor conference in Paris.

Beck is awaiting trial on charges of evading $56,000 in federal income taxes in 1950, and of aiding in preparing a fraudulent income tax return. He is free under $5,000 bond.

Conservatives Register Win in Canada

By MAX HARRELSON
TORONTO (AP) A smashing political upset today ended the 22-year rule of Canada's Liberal party and promised the country a minority Conservative cabinet headed by 61-year-old John Diefenbaker.

The Conservatives, campaigning on a "time for a change" platform, won the most seats in the House of Commons elections yesterday.

Garner About to Believe in Astrology

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's enough to make James Garner believe in astrology.

Everything happens to him in April. He was born April 7, 1923. He was wounded in Korea in April 1952. And in April 1957, he learned he was to become a father for the first time, signed a new seven-year contract with Warner Bros. and won his first starring picture, "Rabbits Run."

Jim is a rangy, dark-haired Oklahoman with just a touch of terday but fell short of a majority.

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, the Liberal party chief, is expected to resign this week and recommend that Gov. Gen. Vincent Massey ask Diefenbaker to form a new cabinet.

The Tories will have to rule as a minority government, as the Liberals did after the 1945 election. Leaders of both minor parties said they would not join a coalition cabinet, although both indicated they would support the Conservatives if they put forward a satisfactory program.

It was considered likely, however, that Diefenbaker would not want to try governing for very long with the aid of other groups but would bring on another election soon in an effort to win a majority.

With 4 of the 265 Commons seats undecided, the Conservatives carry today had won 110, the Liberals 105, the Social CCF (Cooperative Commonwealth Federation) 24, the Social Credit party 18 and independents 6.

In the popular vote, however, the Conservatives were trailing the Liberals, 2,239,086 to 2,396,080. This was the tabulation by the Canadian Press of 37,116 of the 43,100 precincts.

He can thank Charlton Heston for his big break. The movie Moses was all set to play Darryl F. Zanuck's deal blew up just before production was to start.

The unexpected as a habit of happening to Jim Garner. Even his acting career was unscheduled: he had no thought of turning actor until he was 25.

He left his hometown of Norman at 16 to join the merchant marine in 1945. His father had moved to Los Angeles, and Jim joined him after his discharge, enrolling at Hollywood High School.

While he was working in a Hollywood gas station, he got acquainted with a lad named Paul Gregory. He was just a soda jerk in the drug store across the street, but he talked big about becoming a producer.

Jim returned to Oklahoma to finish high school and became the first draftsman in the state after the Korean War broke out.

Discharged again, he was once more in a quandary about his future. A course at the University of Oklahoma didn't work out, so he returned to Los Angeles. He said that he was walking down La Cienega boulevard when he saw a sign, Paul Gregory Productions. He stopped in.

Gregory gave him a job in "Tee-Dee Calne Mutiny Court-Martial" as one of the silent six the officers who listened to the court proceedings. For 512 performances, Jim sat and listened and listened.

He played, Lt. Mark on the road for a spell, then returned to Hollywood for a test at 20th Century-Fox. It failed, but he did a good one for Warners and was signed.

Soap Operas Really Involve Man and Wife

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Let's turn over the witness stand today to Muriel Williams, a comely and talented actress who has a few words to say in behalf of television soap operas.

As Lydia Canfield of "Bright Day" (CBS-TV, Monday through Friday, 2 p. m., CST), she has had nearly two years of experience in the daytime serial field. "As Lydia Canfield," she says, "I have a husband and have been involved in far more emotional adventures than practically any married woman you can name. But each adventure in itself has not been over dramatized or overly lurid."

"I think the reason some people criticize so-called soap opera is because they look at one once and fail to enter deeply into the story since they haven't been following it. It's like opening a book in the middle, glancing at one page, and saying, 'This stinks.' Or else someone will sit down and look at three or four serials in a row. That's like eating too much dessert all at once."

On one score Miss Williams and no argument from her inquisitor:

the acting in daytime television serial has a high level of excellence.

"Portraying characters over a period of time gives an actor more chance to develop depth than in a one-shot," she says. "It also gives viewers an opportunity to evolve genuine personal reactions to the characters. There's an aura of stability, reality and continuity to the surroundings of a daytime serial."

Occasionally an actor or actress is written out of the script of a soap opera for a while. Thus Miss Williams will shortly fade from the story line of "Bright Day" for a couple of weeks in order to play in "Anniversary Waltz" at the Sacandale Park near Gloversville, N. Y.

Born in Dover, N. H., Miss Williams was married to the late Francis Hart when he was manager of the Cape Playhouse in Dennis, Mass. Since her husband's death, she has remained vice president of the Boston model agency which he founded.

General Thomas Jonathan "Stonewall" Jackson has just been placed in the Hall of Fame of Great Americans at New York University. He has been nominated in every election since 1900, but only now received enough votes.

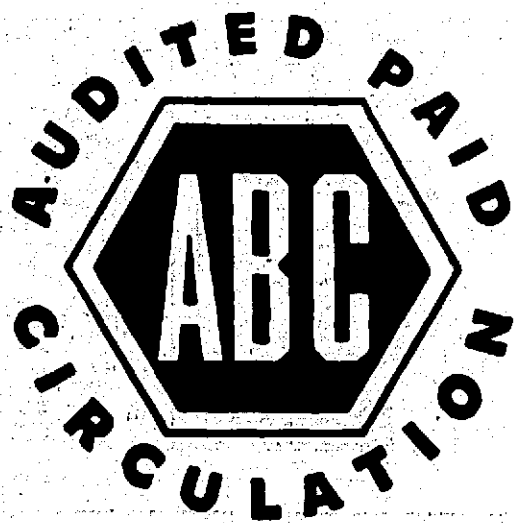

We wish to take this method of expressing our sincere appreciation to everyone for their kindness during our recent bereavement.

The advertiser's highest standard—of circulation value

Every industry has a standard by which its products can be measured.

The jeweler uses the symbol of a pure diamond. In flatware, the word "sterling" and in dinnerware, the word "bone china," represent high standards of quality and value.

For the advertiser, the symbol of the highest standard of circulation value is the emblem of the Audit Bureau of Circulations*. This hallmark means that newspapers or periodicals so identified are measured according to the most highly regarded rules and standards in the advertising and publishing industry.

The fact that we are privileged to display this A.B.C. emblem here means that you can buy advertising in this newspaper as you would make any other sound business investment—on the basis of well known standards, known values.

*This newspaper is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, a cooperative, non-profit association of publishers, advertisers, and advertising agencies. Our circulation is audited by experienced A.B.C. circulation auditors. Our A.B.C. report shows how much circulation we have, where it goes, how obtained, and other facts that tell advertisers what they get for their money when they use this paper.
